ST ANDREW'S COLLEGE
AURORA - ONTARIO

J. Robert Coulter, B.A.

HEADMASTER'S FORWARD

It is obvious from the following pages that S.A.C. students have enjoyed a rich educational fare during the year. The editors are to be congratulated on their artistic and skilful presentation of so many phases of school life.

As one peruses this publication one is forced to consider the nature and extent of education necessary to equip a young man to play a meaningful role, or perhaps even to exist, in modern society.

Because of the complexities, the demands, and the uncertainties of the world in which we now live, we all need general education before we acquire specific training for a job. We need to become men before we become "positions". We must learn to think, we must gain sound moral values, we must desire to serve, we must develop our sensibilities, our imaginations, our understandings, before we are ready to become teachers, engineers, lawyers, business executives.

Once we acquire some basic general knowledge, once we have begun to think with reasonable precision and clarity, once we have some idea of the difference between right and wrong, then we can begin to specialize. The world's store of knowledge has become so vast that we can hope to become proficient within very circumscribed areas only. We must make our contribution to life within narrow fields and have faith that others will excel in different directions.

We still have farther to travel than we realize in order to rid ourselves of our prejudices as Anglo-Saxons, or Whites, or products of Western civilization. We must cling to such cherished traditions as justice, freedom, and the value of the individual, but at the same time lose our intellectual and moral snobbery and our smug sense that we are the favoured people of the earth. We can no longer live in haughty isolation from any nation on earth; we must seek to understand other philosophies, other cultures, and be willing to accept ideas which prove to be better than our own.

It is apparent that we have an important task to perform at St. Andrew's. While we make friends, while we play games and have fun, we must also dedicate ourselves to the acquisition of knowledge, to the pursuit of truth, to the development of body, mind and spirit. We have obligations which dwarf our privileges.

NEW MASTERS

MR. MAINPRIZE

As far as Masters are concerned, the School has this year been particularly blessed. The school joins me in welcoming three new and amiable masters. They are Mr. J. C. Mainprize, Mr. G. M. Moffat and Mr. C. Stoate. Each one has contributed in an outstanding way to the School.

Mr. Mainprize was born in Toronto and educated at a rival school, U.T.S. from where he entered Trinity College at the University of Toronto to study Honours Modern History. During his time at Trinity he acted extensively with the Hart House group, and thus upon graduation in 1958 he travelled to London, England to study at the Central School of Drama. Returning to Canada Mr. Mainprize acted for some time with the C.B.C.

While at S.A.C. he has coached Soccer in the Lower School and the 2nd Basketball. He also showed his acting skill in directing a very intense one act play.

Mr. Mainprize is teaching French, History and Geography.

Mr. Moffat, an Old Boy of S.A.C., arrives back at his Alma Mater after years of wandering.

After graduating from St. Andrew's in 1928, he attended University College, U. of T. graduating in 1932. Following university he received his teaching certificate at the Ontario College of Education and sailed off to the Bahamas to teach at the Government High School in Nassau for two years.

Upon his return to Canada, Mr. Moffat took up a teaching position at Bishop's College School which lasted for twenty six years. While at Bishop's he became head of the Mathematics and Latin Departments and also Housemaster of the Upper School.

Here at S.A.C. Mr. Moffat is teaching Upper School Latin and Mathematics and has given avid support to the School's Clan activities.

Mr. Stoate was born in Britain and received his B.A. at the University of Bristol in French and Commerce, after spending a year in the R.A.F. Leaving Britain he travelled to Australia where he taught at Christ's Grammar School, Claremont, West Australia. Following Australia he came to Canada where he first began teaching at Westmount High School in Montreal.

This year at S.A.C. he is teaching French. While at this School he has very enthusiastically supported Clan Soccer and Hockey, and started a growing participation in Rugger.

The Review, on behalf of the whole School, wishes these new masters many years of happiness at St. Andrew's.

VALEDICTORY

(Text of the Head Prefect's Speech at the Closing Dinner)

Tonight I will try to follow the advice which Franklin D. Roosevelt gave his son James on how to speak. It was: Be brief, be sincere, be seated.

This year has been a different and difficult one. In a year when St. Andrew's College won its first football championship in 18 years, when the first hockey team won a co-championship, when we occupied these wonderful new buildings, and in a year when we have accomplished many other notable achievements, there was discontent and unhappiness in the school.

I am the first person to admit that there is more than one cause of this unhappiness, but this evening I would like to discuss two attitudes which are very prevalent in the school body this year. I feel both of these were responsible in part at least for this unhappiness and discontent.

The first is a feeling of negativity. There is and always will be the person who says something can't be done, or something won't be any fun, but this year there weren't just a few people saying this but whole groups and classes. No one can enjoy himself or ever hope to accomplish anything if he has a negative attitude. The first football team would never have beaten U.C.C. if they had walked out on the field saying we'll never beat them. This also applies to life around the school. If we don't give things a chance, if we start off the year as many boys did this year with their minds fully made up that they wouldn't have any fun, they certainly won't.

What are the results of this attitude of negativity? Anyone with a grievance always wants to be heard and so he talks and talks. This is one of our greatest shortcomings at this school. I include myself in this category. We talk like authorities and make profound statements about things about which we know nothing. This brings to mind the saying "The reason there are so few good talkers in public is that there are so few good thinkers in private." The other day I heard some new boys comparing the school as it is today to the school as it was 6 years ago. However, I am sure that they would squawk the loudest if the prefects still had caning privileges. As a result of this talking, many minor incidents get blown up way out of proportion and they do the school a lot of harm.

The second attitude growing in the school is one of selfishness. I do not mean selfishness of boy towards boy but of boy towards the school. I think at times we all forget that the school doesn't exist for us, that we must do more than just exist at this school or it is of no value to us. This selfishness came out during the hockey season when only a handful of hardy followers mainly from MacDonald House turned up at the first team games. This is the first year I can recall compulsory attendance at any sports event. This selfishness also displayed itself in a lack of cooperation in some respects, such as the Chapel.

This year the school became extremely concerned with their rights and privileges. Often when a boy was punished by a prefect, the prefect would be challenged on his right to do this. This immediately brings to my mind the meeting which the boys in Memorial House used to attend the first day of school. At this meeting they were bluntly told that they had no rights or privileges and that they had to earn them. I think many of us haven't yet learned that there is and always will be someone above us in authority and that we must learn to take orders.

I realize this valedictory sounds like a sermon, but I don't want you to take it this way. I hope I have pointed out a few of our shortcomings. Attitudes of selfishness and negativity will always exist, but I think this year they have passed the danger-point. Mainly on account of these attitudes, I feel and I think few of you will disagree with me that the school has slipped this year. Once a school slips that all-important first notch, the descent proceeds very rapidly. There are two ways this slipping can be faced. One is indifference and the other is vigorous action. It is the challenge of regaining the former stature of the school that the Upper VI and myself leave you this year. I know that you can accomplish this. You proved it at the Cadet Inspection and on the playing fields this year. I hope you will accept this challenge.

This year, the Debating Society was more active than ever, as a number of steps were taken to allow as many boys as possible the chance to debate. First of all, there were numerous debates within the school on Sunday nights, which served as an excellent practice for debates outside the school, and also gave more boys a chance to make an attempt at debating.

Another new step this year was the trip to Montreal. The boys who made up this group were chosen from a trial debate at Lakefield. Linsell, Emerson, and Rook all felt that it was certainly a worthwhile venture.

This year St. Andrew's provided the Secretary for the Inter-School Debating League, and Montgomery fulfilled the post. Knox I, was the secretary of the Debating Society here at St. Andrew's. Waller I was the chairman of the Society and the success of these new ventures was due partly, I am sure, to the enthusiasm and leadership which he provided.

Because of the departure of Mr. Warburton, the Society will be missing a vital member next year, but it is hoped that the interest which was shown this year in this activity will continue into next year.

I realize that this article should be in that beautiful language, French, but several factors keep me from writing it thus. The prime one, as you may well guess, is my lack of aptitude at French.

Early this year, Mr. MacFarlane tried to organize a French Club which would have weekly meetings, and at first the idea worked. However, members of the Club were hard to recruit, and it was difficult to arrange a time for the meetings which would suit everyone involved. A partial solution to the latter problem was found in The Ladies Guild Lounge, that beautiful room which served as our meeting place on Sunday nights. Around November, though, The French Club was discontinued, mostly due to lack of interest.

Then, early in February, Mr. MacFarlane came up with the most original idea at St. Andrew's since someone decided to build the New Buildings. It consisted of a French-speaking table, which was to assemble at lunch. The idea was an immediate success, and many boys tried to join the group "at the French Table". Serious attempts to better our French were made at mealtimes, but we also carried on lively and animated conversations, in French. It is hard for me to remember a meal at which the French table was not almost full, and at which we did not have some lively topic to discuss. There is no doubt that the idea was a brilliant one, and that the French Table will continue to have its popularity next year. In fact, there was serious talk during the year of setting up Spanish and German Tables along the same lines. These tables are sure to come into existence next year.

To conclude, I would like to say that although the French Club was organized along slightly different lines this year, it achieved very well its purpose of bettering our French conversation and vocabulary. Merci beaucoup, M. MacFarlane, pour cette idée si bonne.

THE FOOTBALL DANCE

The first dance held in our new Great Hall, the Football Dance this year was on November 9th. The Great Hall provided an excellent setting for the sixty-odd couples, who thoroughly enjoyed both the music of Billy Williamson and the delicious buffet supplied by Mr. Stewart and his staff. This lively dance served as an indication of the great possibilities of using the Great Hall for all future dances. To the Social Committee and to Mr. Stewart and his staff, the students extend due congratulations for an excellent dance.

THE SKATING PARTY

For a change, this year the skating party was held on a Friday, Feb. 8th, just a week from the half-term break. With blind dates from both Branksome and Havergal, the boys had a greater choice, a welcome relief to some.

The buses arrived promptly at 6:00, and after a quick supper in the Great Hall, couples began to don the blades in preparation for skating. Although it was bitterly cold, this did not stop the enthusiastic couples which crowded the ice until 8:30.

After hot chocolate and donuts in the tuck shop, everyone headed for the gymnasium where the dance, M.C.'d by John Saddington and K. R. Head, was soon in full swing.

Due to kind concern for the sleep of the young ladies of Havergal and Branksome, and much to the regret of all, dancing ended at 11:00 and soon the girls were heading home, dreaming about another fabulous party.

Sincere thanks go to Mr. Stewart and his staff for the dinner and refreshments, and in particular to the Social Committee, for all their hard work to make this another successful dance.

LITTLE BIG FOUR DANCE

With a new setting, the Canadiana Motor Hotel, providing a welcome change, the Little Big Four Dance on March 29th was a very great success.

Dancing began at nine o'clock, with the band of Frank Evans providing most enjoyable music. A welcome addition this year was the availability of soft drinks on the dance floor. Between dances, there were always nice spots in the hotel for couples to "discover". With such diversions, time flew by unnoticed, and it was soon one o'clock and time to say adieu. As we left the Hotel to go to our respective parties, we were sure that the dance had been a great success, due mostly to the friendly and comfortable atmosphere of the Canadiana Hotel. It can only be hoped that next year's dance will be held in as good a place.

THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

IMPROMPTU

Cast: E. M. Perley, A. G. Zimet, D. M. Bichan II, R. C. O'Dell.

The first of the one-act plays, Impromptu, by Ted Mosel, is an experimental drama which takes a close look at the characters of several would-be actors. The plot is a simple one. The curtain opens on a dark stage, and when the lights go up, four characters are seen in a room, the furniture of which is all distorted. It turns out that they have been baited by a director with a promise of a job, and he has told them to get on this stage in front of an audience and improvise some realistic plot. In the course of their discussion it comes out that each of them has something to hide, or some deep-rooted fear. In the end, Tony, a young man, gets fed up and leaves. Following his departure the lights are turned out, supposedly by the director, showing that he is satisfied with the plot. For many in the audience this was the first experience with a play of this type, but the play was well received and enjoyed by all.

THE HAPPY JOURNEY

Cast: R. W. Thompson, E. R. Nelles, J. A. Shaw, R. C. Lindsey, D. G. Hart II, R. D. Gillan I.

This play, by Thornton Wilder, is also somewhat of an experience, after the style of "Our Town", by the same author. It is performed with a minimum number of props, and thus a greater responsibility is placed on the actors of getting the theme across to the audience without these props. Ma Kirby is the central figure, and the play is a delineation of her character, which is shown through her actions and common, everyday comments to everyone she meets, as the Kirby family travels by car to see relatives in a near-by city. The danger in putting on this type of play is that it will either go over very well or very badly with the audience. However, all the actors held up, and the play was a great success. A special mention must be made of Ed Nelles who, as a very convincing Ma Kirby, and, supported by the rest of the cast played a large part in an excellent rendition of a difficult play.

THE GAME OF CHESS

Cast: W. D. Ballard I, J. L. Pallett, J. D. Chapple, B. T. Dowdell.

The last of the one-act plays, by K. S. Goodman, is an episode taken from the life of the Czar Alexis in late nineteenth century Russia. The Czar has been playing chess with a friend, who threatens to checkmate him. However, the visit of a Russian peasant breaks up the game, and the friend leaves. The peasant enters, and, as is expected, pulls a gun on the Czar, who, however, seems strangely unperturbed, and mocks the peasant's attempt at assassination. By means of some fake poison and clever subterfuge, the Czar tricks the peasant into giving up, and the play resolves itself with a good surprise ending. The two leading actors receive commendation for excellent performances. Bruce Dowdell, as Boris, the peasant, played a difficult and important part with emotional intensity and fire; Dave Ballard, as the Czar, was very convincing as an able and quick-witted man of the world. Receiving such excellent performances from these two actors, the play had to succeed, and was an excellent finale to an evening of excellent plays.

MAC HOUSE PLAY

At 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 4th, Mac House presented its annual play. It was a morality play based on the exemplum in the Pardoner's Tale from Chaucer's Canterbury Tales. Although the play was rather short, it was received very well.

It is hard to select an outstanding actor from those who took part under the expert direction of Mr. Pitman, all four boys — Osborne II, Crookston, Mason, and Scott III, — did very well.

By the judicious use of a narrator (expertly performed by Hally I), music, lights, and curtains, we were able to overcome the many problems that a play of this type presented. The eerie atmosphere was added by a timely thunderstorm that crashed over the school as the play began.

Mr. Armitage and his workcrew — Marshall, Dunkley, Wilson II, Mitchell, and Herod — produced three flats which served as excellent backgrounds to the four scenes.

As an experiment the play proved very successful; it was enjoyed by all who were associated with it.

RICHARD OF BORDEAUX

A lot of hard work goes into any successful play, and certainly this was the case with Richard of Bordeaux. Ever since January, practices and rehearsals were held constantly. The scheduled date was March 9th, but the presentation was postponed, because, as the director said, the queen had the mumps. Yet the postponement did not destroy the play, and daily rehearsals were held after the Easter holidays, until all the actors knew their parts close to perfection.

It is a shame that a play into which so much work has gone should only be presented once, yet this was the case. On Saturday, April 20th, Richard of Bordeaux was held in the new Ken Ketchum Memorial Auditorium before a capacity crowd.

The play lasted from 8 until 11 P.M., and in the closing scenes some of the younger boys were dozing off. The plot was not one of violence or mystery, and it certainly did not deal with some psychological complex, as most modern plays do. It was the story of Richard's struggle to remain in power, despite the numerous adversaries around him. The play is a tragedy, for Richard abdicates.

Although some criticism can be found with the choice of the play, none can be made on the acting. All those present; parents, students, and visitors alike, agreed that the acting was superb. The characters were convincing and real, and the conflict came alive on the stage. A booklet full of words was transformed into emotions and actions, which the audience could understand and follow. This ability of the actors to communicate with the audience is what determines a play's success, not its length or plot.

It would be senseless to try to mention each actor's individual performance, for the result would be boring repetition. Still, special mention is deserved by R. M. Pash, who, as Richard, handled the leading role with true talent, and who inspired the cast with his acting.

The Review, in behalf of the whole school, would like to thank Miss Jolliffe and all the production and make-up crews for helping to put on a great play, which was a magnificent example of acting talent, and a tribute to St. Andrew's.

TRIAL BY JURY

Cast: Barker, Hally II, Jones I, Wright, Shaw, Love II, Douglas-Crampton, Coulter I, Hally I.

Saturday, March the Second saw still another "first" for St. Andrew's: the first Gilbert and Sullivan operetta that has ever been produced at this school. Thanks to the facilities provided by the new auditorium, a wonderful musical talent show could be put on, much to the enjoyment of the students as well as all the parents who attended.

Preceding the main feature was a musical program of a widely varied nature. The evening opened with a few songs by some of the trebles. These were followed with well-played piano solos by F. M. E. Maréchaux and G. E. Mason. This part of the program closed with various selections by recorder groups, and an intriguing recorder solo by J. Cossar, "March of the Wooden Soldiers".

A most enjoyable interlude was then provided by Mr. Ross Smith, who sang folk songs from many places in his resounding bass-baritone voice. One of his most entrancing numbers was the Negro spiritual, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot".

Appropriately, the highlight of the evening was provided by the feature, that famous and well-loved operetta by Gilbert and Sullivan, "Trial by Jury". Due to the excellent acting and singing talents of the cast, this attempt at the production of a musical theatre piece was an unprecedented success.

As the self important usher, who continually tried to keep order in the court, J. D. Barker was unique.

The main role, that of the defendant, was admirably and amusingly filled by R. R. B. Jones, who impressed us all with his singing and entertained us with his antics.

In the role of the Judge, D. H. Love gave a casual but spiritedly amusing performance.

As the plaintiff, J. A. Shaw was excellent, both in his singing and in his acting.

The counsel for the plaintiff, J. L. Coulter, showed a very promising voice and acting potential, and is sure to become a leading performer in next year's production.

Under their foreman, G. A. Vanderburgh, the jury of G. E. Love, A. W. B. Graves, D. O. Mutch, S. K. Clark, R. C. O'Dell, T. P. Haines, R. D. Hartcourt, D. G. Hart, F. W. Holmes, A. J. S. Massie, J. L. Pallet, and P. C. Sloane put on a very convincing show.

The other players were: J. A. Campbell as the Associate; J. deP. Wright, D. S. D. Douglas-Crampton, A. N. Hally, and F. C. Rous as bridesmaids; and J. E. Allen, R. A. Ball, W. T. D. Cross, D. F. Evans, E. D. McNiece, and J. S. A. Pengelly as spectators.

The able staff assistance came from Mr. L. C. MacPherson as producer, The Rev. L. R. Gesner as director of the acting, Mr. J. A. M. Allen as conductor, and Mr. J. C. Bradley as director of music, and player of one of the pianos. The guest pianist was Dr. Clayton Rose.

Sincere thanks go to all the above-mentioned, along with the members of the stage crew and Mrs. Rutherford and Miss Joliffe for the costumes. The Review offers its congratulations to all concerned for putting on a truly magnificent performance.

VARIETY NIGHT

This year Variety Night was renewed after an absence of one year, and an entertaining and widely varied performance was put on in the new auditorium, and enjoyed by all who attended.

One of the most widely appealing of all the acts was a performance by Jones I, who sang and accompanied himself on the guitar. He showed good taste in his choice of songs, and his singing was really first class. M.C.'s Thompson and Saddington showed great wisdom in bringing this performer back for several songs.

The act which probably took the most skill and time to put on was the jazz group of "Louie" Goodwin, Bob O'Dell, and Bruce Dowdell. Although this group was a little unfortunate in their placement of the mikes, their music was very enjoyable, as they played several old favourites, as well as an innovation of their own, "Scratching". We hope these boys will form the nucleus for a Jazz Club in future years.

Another precedent set this year was a good representation from the Lower School. Fred Sommerville and Jamie Crookston put on a very witty double impersonation of two heads (one former) of state. Although they were sometimes blatant in their insinuations, their enlightened criticism received tremendous support from the school.

The other singleton effort of the night was an attempt by Ed Nelles to portray a typical French-Canadian sports commentator, with his wild partisanship and broken English. Ed did a tremendous job, possibly because of his extensive practice during the year at imitating a certain French master. He also showed talent in the impersonations of several masters.

Another very amusing performance was put on by this year's prefects, who sang, under the able leadership of Bob Rowan, a small ballad concerning the love-life of a certain person in the school. This ballad was outrageously funny, and many people were sorry that the subject of the ballad was not present to hear it.

The climax of the evening was a play adapted for this school by a certain Mr. Lewis Pitman. This play carried the thoughts of the rest of the evening to their logical conclusion, in that it was a parody on everything you can name. The venerable theatrical style of melodrama, this school, the L.B.F., and certain characters all passed under the humorist's axe. Adding to the effect of extreme melodrama was the music and the character of "Foulfellow", played by John Pallet, who had a flair for the part and just the right nasty type of voice.

Piano solos were played by Ian MacFarlane and Larry Boland, and were greatly appreciated by the audience.

Although some observers may think that this year's Variety Night was too critical, and indeed, at times, it was savage, I think it should be noted because for once, the thoughts of many boys have been able to be expressed on some touchy subjects.

SPECIAL OCCASIONS

GASARAMA

On Wednesday, November 14, we assembled in the Ketchum Auditorium for the presentation of Gasarama. The house lights were lowered, and we saw the protagonist burning in replicas of old street lamps at either end of the stage. From here, the character of natural gas was developed to a large extent by two foils (I trust they do not mind the appellation) — Messrs. Henderson and Onyschuk. Natural gas showed its nature in many ways: by sending a lighter-than-air balloon to the ceiling, by burning both quietly and unquietly, by cooking delicious popcorn (confirmed by Mr. Richardson) and muffins, by failing to suffocate a mouse, by running an electric generator, by completely clothing a man, and by burning in a radio to produce electricity directly. By the end of the show, we all knew more about natural gas — its value and properties, and we thank the Consumer's Gas Co. for the enlightenment.

THE TRIP TO STRATFORD

On Sept. 20th all the boys from third to upper sixth forms travelled by bus to Stratford, Ontario to witness Peter Coe's rather controversial production of Shakespeare's Macbeth. No doubt the younger fellows enjoyed the bloodiness of the theme, whereas the more senior students enjoyed witnessing on stage the downfalls of a noble character, whom they had studied in the English classroom, and who was completely overcome by mysterious, inexplicable temptation. Following the play everyone enjoyed and appreciated Eric Christmas' short lecture on the theatre and the responsibility of the audience therein. It was, indeed, an educational experience which the College found interesting and very enjoyable.

SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL

A matinee performance of Richard Sheridan's "School for Scandal" was attended by the Upper and Lower Sixth Forms on Saturday the 19th of January. This comedy is a witty exposé of the London middle upper class society in the late eighteen hundreds. The main characters are: Sir Peter Teazle (Ralph Richardson), an old bachelor who has recently married a young but extravagant country girl; Joseph Surface (John Gielgud), a hypocritical ward of Sir Peter's, who is attempting to seduce his wife; and Lady Teazle (Geraldine McEwan), Sir Peter's grand-voiced and charming wife. The plot is a typical mix-up which involves a rich widow scandal-monger, a gossip-writer, a prodigal nephew, and a long-lost but rich uncle. Charles Surface, Joseph's irresponsible but likeable brother, triumphs in the end. The plot was fast moving and never dull, the humour was good, and the play was enjoyed by all the Andrians who attended.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY BANQUET

St. Andrew's College festively celebrated November 30th with a traditional St. Andrew's Day dinner. The head table, which consisted of the guest speaker and all our masters and their wives, was piped in, and then likewise was the Haggis. It was carried by two robust young men to the head table from which the Headmaster stabbed it with a knife, and then it was taken to the back of the dining hall where Mr. MacPherson, S.A.C.'s "Mr. Scotland", recited some inspiring and incomprehensible poetry about it in Ancient Scottish. This "food" was then distributed, and followed by a more appealing roast beef dinner. After the meal Clan Colours were presented, and all boys with the name Andrew were given their traditional award, a quarter.

Then the school was addressed by Mr. Ash, President of Shell Oil Company in Canada, who incidentally had attended a renowned Scottish boarding school in his youth. In his excellent speech he stressed the benefits of the education which one receives at a school such as ours. After Mr. Ash had answered any arising questions, the banquet was adjourned by the Headmaster.

LITTLE BIG FOUR

Won 50-6

Under cloudy skies the Saints met a small, inexperienced team for their first L.B.F. encounter. After a shaky start, the Saints rapidly regained their poise and proceeded to march 82 yards in 11 plays for their first major. The first half continued with this pattern of play. The Saints' longest run was only 41 yards, yet at half-time they had scored 37 points through consistent power. On defense, they were rugged and alert, as shown by the numerous fumbles by T.C.S., and Bradshaw's two leaping interceptions.

Early in the second half, the Saints' attack bogged down completely. To make matters worse, Ritchie was hurt late in the third quarter. However, late in the game, the Saints started to roll again as Lathrop scored from the 8 yard line. The next time the Redmen had possession of the ball, they pushed over their last touchdown, making the final score 50-6. To name the outstanding S.A.C. players would be difficult. Offensively, the line was magnificent, giving the powerful backfielders, Lathrop and Knox, a lot of running room and enabling them to score 2 and 5 touchdowns respectively. Defensively, it was the same, as the line constantly harassed T.C.S. and pressured them into numerous errors. This first L.B.F. game was not much of a struggle for the Saints, but it was a good indication of the games to come.

The second L.B.F. encounter was played in cold weather and numerous patches of snow still dotted the field after a heavy snowfall a few days earlier. This was of great advantage to the Redmen as their powerful blocking and running were more effective than Ridley's passing. Also, the Ridley team was much weaker in strength and spirit than the one which had beaten the Saints the year before in a close and hard-fought game.

The first half was dominated by St. Andrew's, as they drove for three touchdowns and a 21-1 half-time lead. Most significant was the diversity in the offense. Knox and Moss supplied power up the middle, Lathrop showed strong outside running, and Ritchie showed ability in mixing running plays as well as passes.

In the second half, the Saints continued with their same style of play which seemed to demoralize Ridley completely and force them to make mistakes. This was shown in the Saints' last touchdown, when a big rush made the Ridley quarterback throw the ball into the arms of Williams, a lineman, who with amazing speed covered 36 yards for the major. Thus the game ended with an easy 48-1 victory for the Saints.

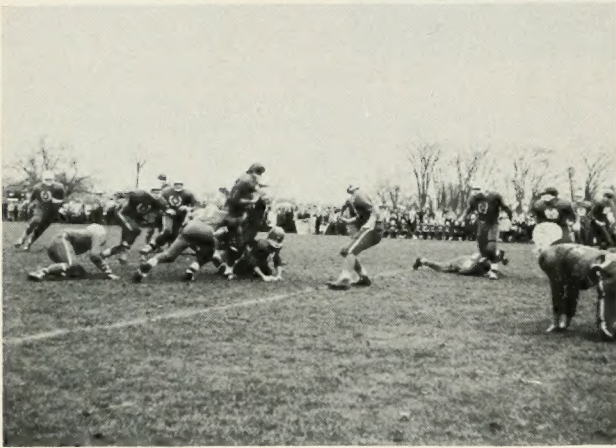

Again it was a team effort all the way. Touchdowns went to Knox (2), Rowan, Moss, Lathrop, and Williams. The game was witnessed by quite a few U.C.C. students, who were visibly impressed with the amazing demonstration of power and coordination put on by the Saints. The chant "You're next, U.C.C." was a fair warning to the blue team.

By the third and final Little Big Four match with U.C.C., which had also gone unbeaten, the Saints had a well-drilled powerful team. The spirit of the team and of the whole school was at an unprecedented peak as St. Andrew's approached its first championship in seventeen years.

The first half of the game was a see-saw affair in which both offences gained yards easily, but neither team got any lasting lead. The highlight of this half was a beautifully executed pass off a field goal formation to Stevenson for the opening score. By half-time, the Saints were leading 19-7, but they had not dominated the play by any means.

After the half-time break, the Saints came on the field full of desire to play and determined to beat the U.C.C. team. Soon after the second half had begun, a long Ritchie to Head pass produced a quick touchdown. This had a demoralizing effect on U.C.C., whose spirit was obviously crushed. A slight rally grew when U.C.C. surprisingly scored again, but Lathrop promptly proceeded to return the kick-off for an 80-yard T.D., which sent the St. Andrew's cheering section into a maddened frenzy. (The coach was almost doing cartwheels). From that point on, the Upper Canada team knew it would lose, and the Saints easily coasted to a 32-14 victory, which secured them the much-desired L.B.F. championship.

A CHAMPIONSHIP 1962

Seventeen years is a long time to wait for a Championship, and it is to be hoped that another seventeen will not elapse before we win another. Possibly, having broken the ice or jinx, our wins may come a little more frequently. On eight different occasions during the last fourteen years a Championship was within our grasp, only to be snatched away by a missed convert, fumbled punt, or dropped pass. Over the last thirteen years, our record in Little Big Four competition is the best, having won 19, lost 18, and tied one.

It is very hard to analyze the reasons why this year's team succeeded where others had failed. We lacked a back who compared favourably with Routledge for sheer speed and deceptiveness. Our Fullbacks lacked the speed and power of a Muirhead, Wood, or Sommerville; our line was quite light compared to some of the powerful units of the last ten years. Age and experience add little to the solution as this was one of the youngest and most inexperienced teams for some time, the average age being 16.8 years. Wherefore lay the key to our success?

Those who watched the crucial game with U.C.C. and were able to keep their eyes off the ball carrier probably found the answer. Offensively, a rather small line was one of the fastest and hardest charging lines developed at S.A.C. in many years. One which knew the types of blocks to use and had mastered their assignments to perfection. The offensive line hit hard and fast and exhibited tremendous desire on pursuit. Our backfield, neither exceptionally fast nor heavy, faked and blocked to perfection, while its timing was that of a well-oiled machine. If you add to this a quarterback whose ball-handling was excellent and who threw very well; two ends who had glue on their fingers; a defensive tertiary which covered passes and tackled reliably, you have the physical picture.

The real answer, however, lay in the spirit and determination of the whole team. Rowan as Captain, and Massie as Vice-captain inspired the team and set a fine example on the practice field as well as during the games. As the team improved game by game, a desire and feeling of confidence developed which was to stand in good stead when pressed in the championship game with U.C.C. At one point, Ritchie calmly threw a touchdown pass off a fake placement. At another, he waved a back into the clear and coolly threw another touchdown pass. The most typical play, however, developed after U.C.C. had scored its second touchdown and put them within striking distance of our score. On the resulting kick-off, Lathrop and Head executed a brilliant reverse, and with the whole team setting up a sideline blocking screen, Lathrop brilliantly sped eighty yards for the clinching touchdown. This one play clearly depicts the whole nature of the team all season — twelve players who played as a unit, refused to be panicked by the unexpected and who had the burning desire to succeed where others failed.

(Ed.'s note: Mr. Holmes deserves congratulations and thanks from all concerned for leading this year's team to its long-overdue L.B.F. Championship.)

SECOND FOOTBALL COLOURS

Bichan I, Cathers, Hart II, Frost, Gausby, Fennell, Ross II, Robinson, Walker, Russell, Scott I, Varga, Pennal.

This year, a Second Football team and an Under Sixteen team were created in lieu of the former Under Seventeen team of last year. Mr. Warburton again displayed his fine coaching ability as he piloted the team to an outstanding L.B.F. season. Except for two early losses, all games were decisively won, including resounding victories over U.C.C. and T.C.S. The lack of a game against Ridley unfortunately prohibited the acquisition of a complete L.B.F. Championship.

All games witnessed strong defensive play led by Robinson and Sprague, and a powerful offensive backfield. Off-tackle slashes proved to be most successful for the Saints, although a less spectacular passing attack proved itself invaluable at certain times. In general, a sincere team spirit and the great desire to win were apparent throughout all games. Congratulations to all members of the Second team for a most successful season.

Clan Soccer, in its third consecutive year proved to be another field of battle between the clans. The competition was tough and spirited, with Montrose coming out on top. From the various clans, first and second All-star teams were picked. These two teams played several games against some of the large high-schools (Aurora, Newmarket, Thornhill) and against several private schools including Upper Canada College, Lakefield, Hillfield, and Pickering. The first team had a rather poor season, winning no games except an exhibition performance against the masters. The seconds, however, played very well, tallying a majority of victories by the end of the year.

RUGGER

On May 18th, here at St. Andrew's we were privileged to have the Ontario Rugger Tournament held on our lovely country-estate grounds. On days previous to the event, our Canadian climate seemed quite determined not to give us any degree of suitable weather; thus even though we started with a perfectly clear day, the fields were certainly quite messy due to their dampness.

The 23 teams started arriving towards mid-morning, all of whom seemed physically fit and keen for competition. These teams represented three age groups: under twenty, under seventeen, and under fourteen. St. Andrew's reputation for good, hard, clean sportsmanship was upheld by a Senior (under 20) and a Junior (under 17) team.

Rugger, a game of English origin, was replaced by football at St. Andrew's during the late twenties; since then, the game seems to have been completely forgotten until recently. An attempt two years ago sparked the first interest in this rough and hard match of physical strength, speed and durability. Now, finally, it has caught the curiosity and interest of the boys and masters, getting their hardy support. This year, Mr. Stoate, a new member of the staff, and Mr. Pitman, with encouragement and valuable leadership, have immensely helped the boys by forming and coaching the rugger teams in their spare time.

The best way to describe rugger to those who have had little or no experience with the game is just to say it resembles football, except no protective padding is used, and the game is much faster. Although this may sound very dangerous, it is not so. The game requires the basic skills of any athletic contest: speed, strength, and determination. Its object is to carry the ball over the opposing team's goal line. This is called a try, and is worth three points. A try entitles the advancing team to attempt a convert, which is a kick about ten yards away from the goal line. If the ball goes over the crossbar of the goalposts, it is worth two points.

The senior tournament was separated into an A and a B Division, St. Andrew's being in the first. Having easily beaten our first two opponents, it remained for us to win our last game to secure the championship. As game time approached, however, dark clouds gathered on the horizon, and before long we were engulfed in rain. Bravely, the members of the team trotted out onto the field full of life, and all went well during the greater part of the game. Several times we pushed our opponents back into their end of the field by our gallant drives and crushing tackles, but then hail, the size of marbles, came shooting down from above, forcing the game to be delayed a few minutes. When the hail ceased, the torrential cascades of rain began again, and the field was under at least two inches of water.

Although soaked, cold, and completely covered with mud, we continued to fight. At length, we were given a penalty, a very questionable penalty. The Donevan team, our opponent, was awarded a field goal attempt from our thirty-five yard line. The ball was kicked, and it sailed through wind and torrents of rain, to clear the bar by a mere fraction of an inch. Our men fought violently in the last minute of the game to even the score, but were unable to.

The junior team, even though it did not put on a very remarkable showing, must be mentioned for its fine effort and outstanding sportsmanship. Most of these younger boys will surely make up the core of any future rugger team.

The senior team was made up exclusively of members of the first football team, a fact which probably accounts for its success after only a few weeks of practice. The St. Andrew's Seven were: Don Weston, Vic Knox, John (the beast) Dunkley, Gary Ritchie, K. R. Head, Gage Love, Mike Murnane, and the eighth man — Brad Heintzman. Without a doubt this team lived up to the school motto: "Quit ye like men, be strong".

LITTLE BIG FOUR

U.C.C. 3 — S.A.C. 0

The first meeting between these two rivals was a bitter affair marred by frequent rough play and sadism. U.C.C. won the game on the strength of a good first and second period which produced three goals. The last period was a standoff. So the game concluded with the score 3-0 for U.C.C. No new friendships or passionate feelings were aroused by players on the S.A.C. team toward the U.C.C. team.

S.A.C. 5 — B.R.C. 4

The Saints played the black and orange Ridley team at Ridley. In this game the Saints put on a great checking display in the first two periods while amassing a 5-2 lead on the strength of Wyse's two goals and one each by Roman, Love and Walker. In the last period the Saints became over-confident and ran into foolish penalties which almost cost us the victory. With five minutes to go Ridley scored twice and only spectacular goaltending by Saylor saved the victory. With a minute to go he made a spectacular save on a breakaway. The competition ended with a 5 to 4 victory for the Saints. It was a fast, exciting hockey game, a tremendous battle by both sides.

S.A.C. 2 — U.C.C. 1

Thus the Saints opposed Upper Canada at the latter's home rink to try to recuperate from the 3-0 defeat at the first meeting. The game opened with the Saints carrying the play into the Upper Canada end and managed two first period goals by Pennal and Wyse to make the score 2-0. The second period saw U.C.C. start to roll and they finally scored to make the score 2-1. The Saints then checked closely and limited Upper Canada to only two really good scoring opportunities. There was no further scoring although U.C.C. missed many good opportunities due to fine goal-tending by Saylor who was by far the outstanding player on the ice, especially in the last period.

S.A.C. 5 — T.C.S. 4

The Saints played on their home ice with a co-hockey championship at stake. The Saints quickly opened up a 2-0 lead on goals by Pennal and Ritchie. T.C.S. tied it but were soon behind as Stevenson and Varga tallied. The score was 4-2 at the end of the second period. In the last period Ritchie's second goal moved the Saints into a 5-3 lead. In the last minute T.C.S. removed their goalie, but the Saints put on the pressure and the goalie returned to his nets. Then, T.C.S. scored with thirty seconds left. The Saints held them off and managed to squeeze through with a 5-4 victory. Both teams played fast clean hockey with many pretty passing plays and close checking.

OLD BOYS' HOCKEY NIGHT

For the 4th annual Hockey night the current edition of the Saints were to face an exceptionally long-winded assembly of older gentlemen (the Old Boys) who turned out to be no easy task for their younger contemporaries.

The preliminary battles pitted Mr. Ives' current crop of lower school pucksters against a squad from U.C.C. prep. The boys from Upper Canada proved to be perhaps too much for the home team who came out on the short end of a 5-2 count. After a brief intermission which included 3 selections by the pipe band, a "selected" group of Old Boys interspersed with 2 or 3 of the less agile skaters among our prefects challenged the masters in a game of broomball. The game itself, which was marred by penalties (2 to "Thunder Coulter") was a classic comedy interrupted only by a stupendous goal by "Terrible Terry" Clifford giving the masters the win.

As soon as most of the masters were assisted (à la stretcher etc.) from the ice, the first's game began. From the outset the Old Boys, numbering former stars Routledge, Wainsborough, Binns, and Joyce, looked tough; however, 2 quick goals by Pennal and Stevenson gave the firsts an early 2-0 lead which held up through almost 2 periods until Old Boy counterattacks evened the score. The beginning of the third period was more or less even as both sides evenly divided 6 goals. The game became more intense as the final period progressed with the school finally pushing the winner past Ballard, ably substituting the Old Boys' nets, in the dying minutes.

The game itself was a fine exhibition of clean hockey and sportsmanship on both sides; however Bob Rowan's 3 goal performance appeared to be the difference in this closely fought and hard-won game.

The entire night was a thorough success and was extremely well received all around.

SECOND HOCKEY COLOURS

Forsyth, Service, Cathers, Frost, Coulter I, Swan, McClocklin, Gausby.

I would like to say that I have never been prouder of any other group of boys than the 16 that were on our team this year. We had what could be called an excellent season. We played 13 games, winning 10 and losing only three, and we were also the Minor Juvenile L.B.F. Champions.

The team was fairly well balanced, but our "production line" of Forsyth, Cathers, and Service scored 23 of our 48 goals. John Swan and Jim McClocklin were our mild-mannered defence pair who pulled most of the weight in the rear-guard positions. Jim Bjork and Mike Linsell were our two rough and tumble defencemen and were often used as bouncers if anybody on the other team got out of line. The checking line of Frost, Gausby, and Rubin didn't start developing until later in the season, as it was difficult to find the proper left winger. Dave Love played there at one time because of his terrific shot, but in order to give more balance, he was placed on the third line. Goalkeeping was a problem this year for we used the two goalie system. Lee Coulter improved steadily through the season and played very strongly in our last games while Dave Bichan turned in some fine efforts early in the schedule. Craig Bennett and John Jeffries were our two younger players and didn't get too much ice time, but I hope the experience helped them.

"Big" John Swan was the most valuable player. He showed a reasonable amount of leadership and played almost flawless hockey throughout. A close second to him was John Service whose never-ending desire "to dig" put him up there with the best players. He was most valuable to Keith Forsyth, our leading scorer (13 goals and 11 assists) for Service set him up for at least ten of his goals. Keith was our youngest player (14) and I expect to hear a lot from him in the future. Lazy Paul "Jack" Frost was second in goal-scoring (9) and a number of his goals were winners. Dave Cathers, our captain, gave the team good leadership and was a stand-out player.

Mr. Gibb joins me in congratulating the team on their championship and for giving us a most enjoyable season.

LITTLE BIG FOUR

U.C.C. at S.A.C.

Lost 89-45

With the football verdict still fresh in the minds of all, the Saints took the floor in search of their share of a clean sweep over U.C.C. this year. The game started slowly as the Saints put a double coverage on Frost, the Upper Canada star, right from the first. Though leading at one point 4-3, the Redmen let up and were unable to recover until the blues had sunk 23 straight points, seemingly putting the game out of reach in the very first quarter. This general state of affairs continued to the half and as a result the U.C.C. team took a 55-24 lead.

Determinedly, the Saints began the last half, and determinedly they ended it, but unfortunately they had set out to cover the wrong man. Junkin, the Upper Canada left forward, sunk fouls, field goals, and batted in rebounds quite merrily until he finally amassed 43 points. Frost, however, wasn't having a terribly bad day either, for he got 31 points. The Saints tried very hard, but as a young team they were no match for this superb U.C.C. squad, which finally took an 89-45 victory home.

Sprague with 11, and Bradshaw with 17 were the top scorers for the Saints.

Seeking to even their L.B.F. record, the Saints took the floor against a powerful team which had been good enough to beat Upper Canada by 10 points. Unmoved by this terrific feat, the Redmen gamely stuck right with Ridley for most of the first half. However, they were left on the short end of a 33-29 count at the half-time mark.

After playing what had certainly been their best half of ball all season, the Saints began to drag and become careless right from the opening whistle of the second half. Taking full advantage of these untimely lapses, Ridley quickly opened up a 20 point lead which they extended to 30 before the end of the third quarter. Though dazed, the Redmen pushed on and for a few brief moments seemed to come to life. However, the orange and black spurted just as effectively and put the game well out of reach. The final score was a discouraging 89-48. Bradshaw and Sprague were the top scorers for the Saints, while Shapiro did most of the damage for Ridley.

S.A.C. at T.C.S.

Still looking for that first L.B.F. victory, the Saints went to face a team with a very similar record, thus promising a good game.

The entire first half was cautiously and occasionally expertly fought, but from the very onset T.C.S. held a slim lead which they never once relinquished in the opening half. Having kept within 7 points for the greater part of the half, the Saints began to slack off towards the end, thus enabling Trinity to jump into a 17 point lead at the half-time point.

Realizing that they could very easily pull the game out if their shooting would improve, the Saints began the second half determined to better their opposition. Their determination, though, failed to pay off until the final quarter, as the Redmen continued to just miss shot after shot. Finally, trailing 41-29 in the final minutes, the Saints began to sink those near misses off the tricky T.C.S. backboard. Though they had yet to lead, they surged on, sinking shots from all over the place, as their few supporters in the audience put on a magnificent show of cheering. The outstanding player in these last few minutes was Sprague, who had the T.C.S. ball players running madly after him, trying to keep him from scoring. The winning basket, however, was a 30 foot shot by Clark, with 15 seconds left in the game.

In their first winning effort, the Saints were to be congratulated for their fine determined effort, led so capably by Sprague.

S.A.C. at U.C.C.

In the return match with Upper Canada, the Saints discovered early, much to their dismay, that the team which had trounced them so convincingly at home was out to better that large margin. This became painfully evident as the first half wore on. In fact, the Saints were unable to sink one field goal until late in the first quarter. As a result, the blues, led so capably by Frost and Junkin, led the Redmen 37-12 at the half.

Though outmatched, the Saints attempted to draw closer in the final quarters and at least make the score seem decent, but this was not to be. Though Kitchen added 15, and Sprague 11, the U.C.C. squad finished strongly as Junkin with 35 and Frost with 33 accounted for a major portion of an 87-49 verdict.

T.C.S. at S.A.C. Won 65-46

This was to be the battle for the L.B.F. cellar. Both teams realized the consequences of the game's outcome, hence the game was well fought from the start.

The Saints began slowly, but never trailed throughout the game. Westfall and Sprague began to hit from the outside while Kitchen, gaining his form for this final game, also continued to hit consistently from the opening whistle. Led by these three, and backed by a solid team effort, the Saints began to pull away in the second quarter after a see-saw first period which no one really dominated.

Leading 35-21 at the half, the Saints finally appeared to be hitting their stride.

This trend of the latter first half continued into the second as the Redmen continued to hit the basket they had missed so often that season. Kitchen, showing fine form, appeared headed for the high-scoring honours. A great team effort near the end of the game enabled him to come out with 22 points.

Leading 53-41 at the three-quarter mark, the Firsts poured it on in the last period to walk away with a 65-46 victory. A well-earned, sweet victory for the whole team who had worked hard for the final contest.

The statistics are unkind. It was the fate of the Second Basketball Team to be well matched for all but one of its games and yet to emerge after a last quarter 3 or 4 points behind its opponent. In 6 of the 9 recorded defeats, less than 5 points conquered us. It was of course simple to lay these very few points upon a plethora of doorsteps, but it was none the less frustrating.

One remembers with particular vividness the last distressing seconds of the U.T.S. and Pickering games and the U.C.C. and T.C.S. return matches.

In fact, we had a team of good players; players from whom much can be expected next year. There was always excitement on the bench, whenever Herder, the co-captain was on the floor. Although his game was occasionally marred by a lack of empathy with his opponents, he placed his shots with great accuracy. The captain, Ross II, was a first-rate guard. His armour, in fact, cast fear. We shall remember Benveniste for his speed, accuracy and perpetual excitement. Nor can we forget Rook, Turner, Fahlgren and Peckover II. Each holds great promise for next year.

There are several people outside the Second Team, whom we thank most heartily. For Mr. Terence Clifford's invaluable assistance, both spiritual and material, we are most grateful. Thank you to Hilton and Kitchen I for aiding us in many crises and to Saddington and Haines for their long, careful, and cheerful work in practice.

Next year, with a winning team, we shall return.

Stamper, Guzman, Dangerfield.

Representing St. Andrew's College, in the C.O.S.S.A., for the second year, the midget basketball team, although lacking height, put up a firm front. We played 9 games and lost seven. The games brought to a climax the daily practices, and those that we lost were usually by a slim margin.

In the beginning of the season, inexperience was our main fault, but by the end of the season we had settled down and begun to click. Without the team spirit which was shown we would have been in a dangerous position, but we were able to keep our spirits up. Much of the team's success is due to Mr. Gesner's fine coaching, and the team is deeply indebted to him.

Fine ball-handling and accurate shooting were shown on the part of Fabio "Gooch" Guzman, and George "Dog" Dangerfield. The other starting players, Jim Dunster, Pat Stamper, and Paul Sloane kept up the fast pace needed in the game. The team was well managed by John Campbell.

This midget team, besides representing S.A.C., has opened the "basketball door" for many younger boys, who will soon form the core of the First Team. We hope that this team will continue to exist in the years to follow.

Last year marked the beginning of interest in the school swim team. The enthusiasm continued in the '62-'63 season with a good turn-out marred only by the absence of older boys. As a result, most of the senior team was of junior age, the rest forming an enthusiastic junior team.

The highlights of the season were the acquiring of uniforms and the presentation of a trophy by the team to be awarded to the senior and junior champions of the school swim meet, this year won by Roger Jones and Robert Dunkley. An indication of faith in the team was shown by last year's captain Norm Slater who sent a trophy to be awarded annually to the swimmer contributing most, not only in points but also in general attitude and enthusiasm.

Under the co-captainship of Roger Jones and Jim Pritchard there were seven meets, including the fateful L.B.F. meet at Hart House. Probably the smoothest working combination of four boys in the school was the senior 200 yard freestyle relay team who crowded L.P.C.I. into breaking the Toronto Schools' pool record and on another occasion in breaking the U.C.C. pool record themselves.

The team would in closing like to thank Bob Goode and Marius Van Nooten's U.S.A.C. team for their two Sunday afternoons spent helping the team prepare for the meets.

FENCING COLOURS

First: Wilson I, Billings.

Second: Gurr, Williamson, McPhail.

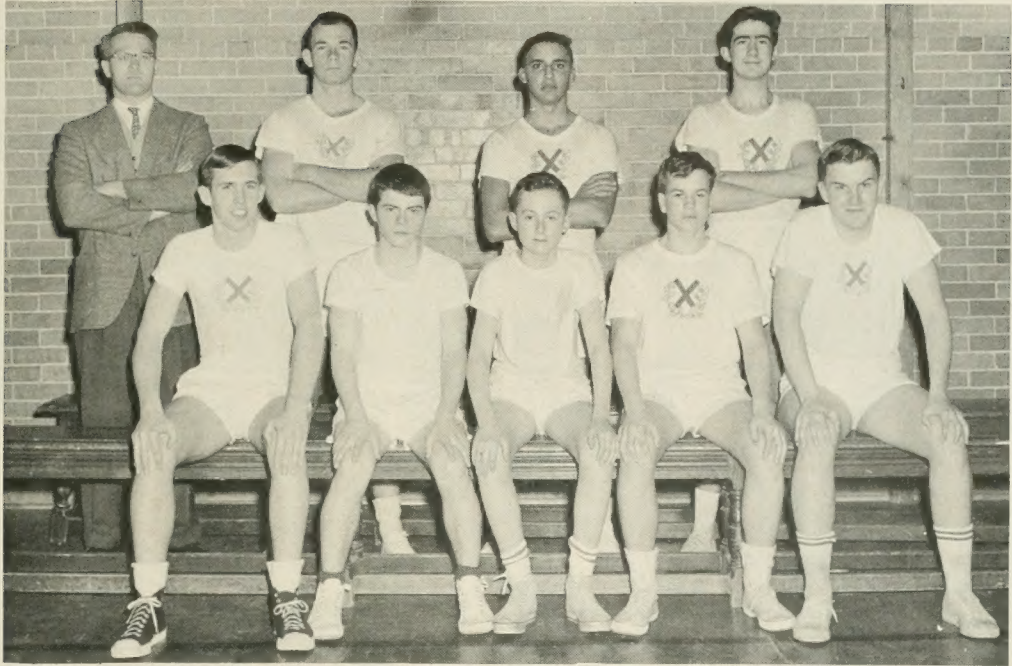

This year was one of triumph for the fencers. They not only engineered a meet with B.S.S., but a rematch too. For some reason, school interest in fencing was never higher than at the time of that meet. Aply coached by Mr. Bozzay, whose sabre swats were the terror of the younger members, the team also competed against Ridley and the Toronto Harmony (German-Canadian) Club. During Easter, Billings, McPhail, Wilson I, and Gurr entered an Ontario-wide competition and put on a creditable performance.

This year "Butcher" Billings, the team captain, has refined his exciting (and effective) style, fortunately for the lives of those around him. He and vice-captain McPhail introduced sabre this year as an addition to the regular foil fencing. Newcomer Williamson quickly became known as "the terror of the fencing strip" with his unique Scottish-type attack. Wilson did a very capable job as manager, and Gurr and Emerson showed real promise as future leaders of the fencing team. Unfortunately, Gurr goes to Jamaica next year. Among the younger fencers were Campbell, Crump, Forbes I, Rodgers, Schmeichler, Evans, Cross, and late-comers Crockett and Glover.

(ED's Note: Vice-captain McPhail is to be congratulated for winning the trophy for the best fencer.)

TRACK AND FIELD COLOURS

First Team: Sprague I.
Second Team: Reade, Frost.

The disastrous weather which caused havoc with the cricket in the spring term also devastated the track and field programme. The competitions that we had planned were cancelled — except for a visit to Aurora to compete in the Georgian Bay Trials, on May 16th. And the track on that day was sadly affected by the torrential rain which fell the night before. All we gained from this meet was experience, but it is hoped that this will be put to good use next year. A special vote of thanks is due to Mr. Pitman who gave up a great deal of his time in helping the boys to perfect their talents. Another man who will be greatly missed around the track next year and whom we are deeply indebted to is Mr. Warburton. Few men have sacrificed so much time, or made track as enjoyable as he. On behalf of the track team, sir, many thanks for your years of instruction and encouragement.

GAMES DAY

In an attempt to stir up enthusiasm in athletics throughout all grades, efforts were made to run off numerous heats for all age groups before Games Day. Unfortunately, Mother Nature wreaked havoc with the whole programme: the track and the in-field remained useless for weeks. Miraculously enough, Games Day, on May 17th, brought ideal conditions, and the programme went without a hitch. The Senior Champion was Reade; the Intermediate Championship was shared by Frost and Sprague I; Garrett was Junior Champion, and Browrigg — who set five records — was Juvenile Champion.

As the outcome of the Clan Championship was in doubt until the final relay races were run, clan rivalry reached fever-pitch. The results speak for themselves: Bruce—92, Douglas—83, Wallace—80½, and Montrose—54.

The day was thoughtfully enjoyed by all as a result of the conscientious efforts of Mr. Gardner, Mr. Warburton, Mr. Pitman, and Mr. MacPherson, to name just a few of the masters who officiated.

TENNIS TEAM

Tennis this year, though still considered a minor sport, has experienced more than its share of moderate success. Upper Canada must be congratulated for their successful defense of their L.B.F. title. Unfortunately circumstances didn't allow us to field a team for the annual fall competition this year, but the prospects for the coming year look bright indeed. The entire tennis team of eight eager L.B.F. aspirants will be back next year; therefore the future looks anything but sad. Although we missed the L.B.F., the team did play one set of exhibition matches with the Newmarket Club, where we did surprisingly well against some very experienced competition. There were a series of clinics for the ardent novices which were held in the spring under the auspice of Mr. Davis, who kindly came down from Newmarket for a number of afternoons and weekends.

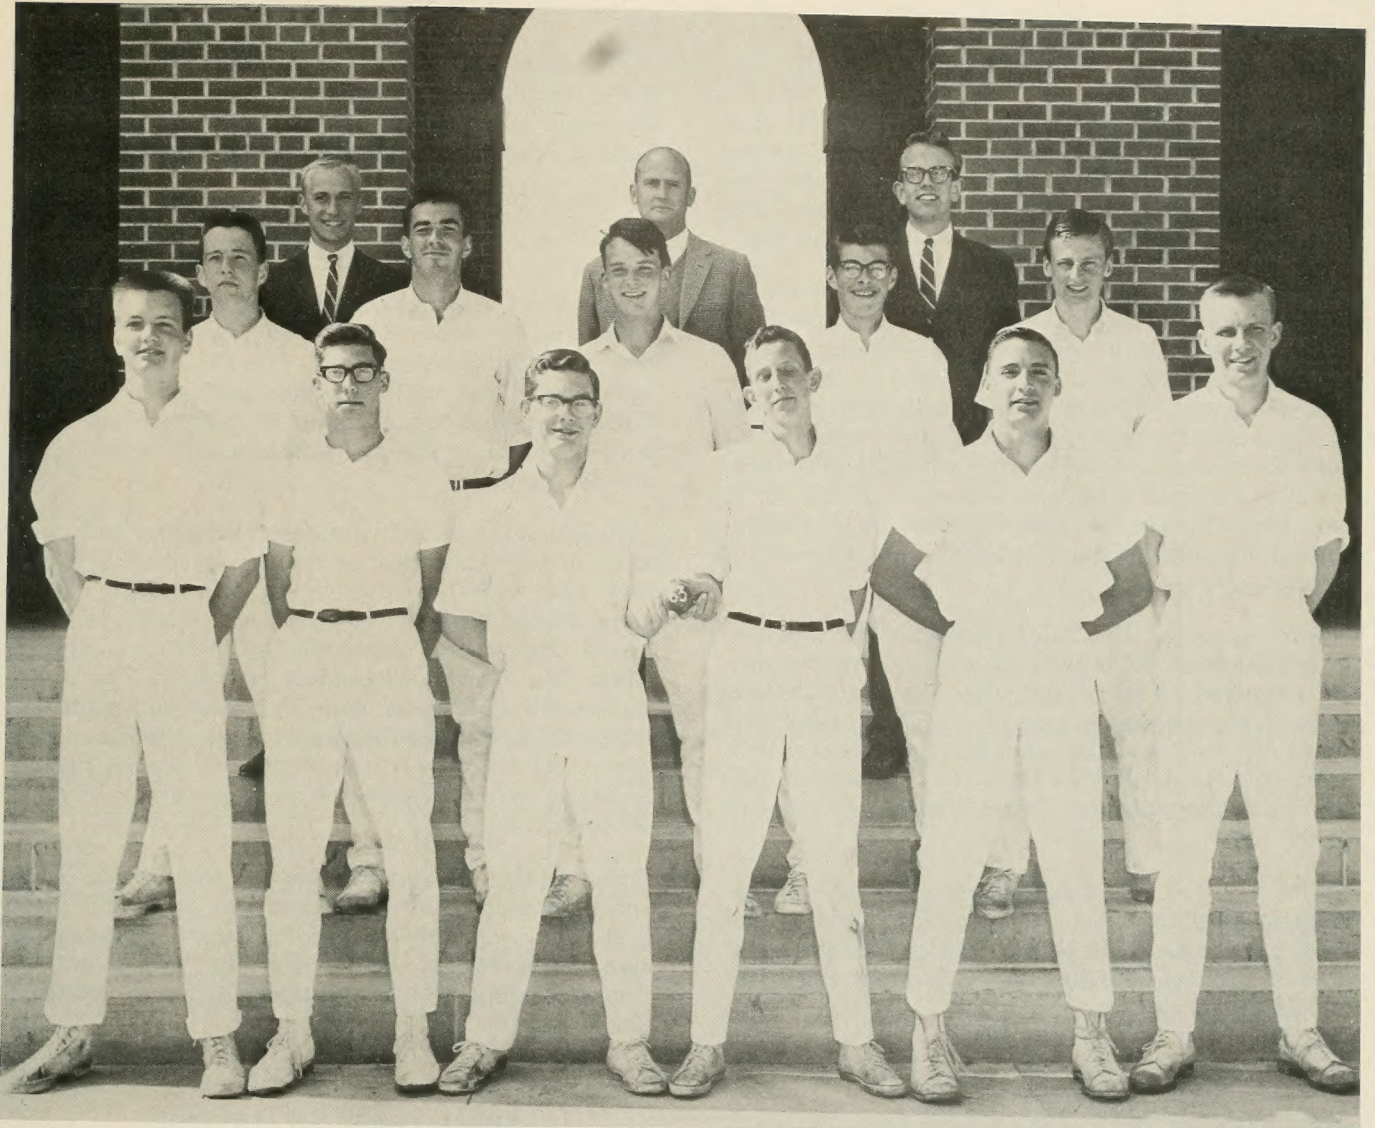

The school titles were enthusiastically contested in the two divisions, both singles and doubles. The Junior doubles surprisingly enough were captured by Frost and Swan, a pair of first-year men who successfully turned back the first two seeds. McColl took the Junior singles after a number of late round battles. The Senior doubles this year went to van der Ven and Massie who won a very hard fought five set duel with the first seeds in the final, while the senior singles went to Farrington II, again only after two gruelling late round matches.

The team this year consisted mainly of imports. Osborne I (capt.), Massie I, and Waller I, were the only homebrews among the group whose homes ranged from Venezuela (van der Ven), to the Bahamas (Farrington I and Farrington II) to Boston (Randell); Second Colours went to Massie I, Farrington II, van der Ven, and Osborne I.

This year has been, to use a hackneyed phrase, a rebuilding year for Tennis. There is here, though, the nucleus of an exceptionally fine team with the future looming very bright for at least the next two and presumably the next three years. We have the talent and with the right directing we will get results. Upper Canada, look out!

LITTLE BIG FOUR

S.A.C. AT T.C.S.

The Saints, having drawn T.C.S. as their first L.B.F. opposition, travelled to Port Hope having had very little previous practice due to the unusually wet spring, but having a team whose bowling Mr. Gibb had called "the best since the war".

Batting first, Trinity's first 7 batters managed only 21 runs. Caught between Love's speed (3 wickets) and Gore's slow spins (2 wickets), T.C.S. accomplished little in the way of runs in the beginning of the game. However, the Saints then received a rude shock. Perhaps the taste of sure victory overcame the young team which subsequently proceeded to allow the final 3 batters to make a stand for 14 runs. Nevertheless, we were far from out of contention as we faced Trinity's rather slim all out for 35 total.

Here, as usual, the Saint's battling left much to be desired from the outset. Ballard, run out for one, had averaged 43 runs per game last year. Cathers made a commendable stand, as did Westfall and Grant, but they met the same fate as Gore, Love II, and Stafford who left us 19 for 8. Our bottom batters also accomplished little, leaving us all out for 24.

With a little more batting practice, our batters perhaps could have won the game. Our fielding and bowling were excellent throughout and showed great promise. Congratulations to T.C.S. on a close and well-deserved victory.

S.A.C. AT U.C.C.

With weather threatening but spirits high, the team arrived at U.C.C. looking for a victory because inside information was that Upper Canada's bowling was not up to its usual standard.

The game started quite slowly with Gore bowling against two very cautious Upper Canada batsmen. When U.C.C. tried for a few runs, the bails flew and again the batting slowed down. The rest of U.C.C.'s batting was slow and uneventful, although Cathers and Coulter made nice catches and Grant accounted for 3 wickets. When Upper Canada had finished their batting, somehow 68 runs had been accumulated.

As S.A.C. began batting, the weather got quite cold, but we were expecting good batting from our men, led off by Cathers and Grant. Somehow the Saints fell apart at the seams as our batters fell in unbelievably quick succession. A midway stand by Stafford temporarily raised our hopes, but in the final count we had only 39 runs to Upper Canada's 68.

Although it was acknowledged by our team that U.C.C. had played a very steady game, it was felt we could have taken the match with a little more batting practice and perhaps a longer season.

B.R.C. AT S.A.C.

The third and final cricket game was played against Ridley on our home field. The Saints won the toss and elected to bat first. The First XI came up with their best batting performance of the year. Cathers made 8, Grant made 16, Westfall and Love both made 11 as the team managed 70 runs for all out by tea-time.

Ridley went to bat confident of victory but they were rudely surprised as they soon stood at 8 for two, and wickets continued to fall quickly. They were 38 for 8 when Sheppard and Glass went in. These two batted cautiously at first, but after a while they started to connect regularly. The ninth wicket fell at 62 runs, and Glass had just made 11. Sheppard had really found the range and had scored 29 runs by the time the score reached 70 - 69. Facing Love, he lashed a drive which Hart caught at mid-off to end the game.

For Ridley, Sheppard was the star, while Love and Gore starred for the Saints who pulled off their first victory of the year, and took the Championship away from Ridley. U.C.C. was the winner of the Championship, and congratulations must go to a fine team.

FIRST TEAM VS MASTERS

The masters took their time in challenging the First XI to a cricket match, but seeing as though this type of game had never taken place before, no one noticed this delay. The masters batted first as Bobby Coulter and Benny the Bursar opened. The latter lasted four balls, while the former only lasted three. Both were bowled out for no runs. Of the other masters, Mr. Ives, Mr. Wright, Mr. Stoate, and Mr. Gibb were the outstanding participants, especially the last two. Mr. Stoate made 7 not out, while Mr. Gibb made 11, including a 6. Special notice should also go to Mr. Mainprize who scored a brilliant 1 run, and Mr. (terrible T) Clifford who went down swinging on the first ball.

When the First team went to bat, they were faced with an almost insurmountable 28 runs. However, the Team somehow managed 30 runs for 5 wickets (including Gore's 14 not out) to win the game. Special praise should be given to the First XI who beat the impressive team of masters at a time so close to the exams.

Second Row: Knox I, Bennet, Bjork, Barker, Swan, Dattells.

SECOND XI COLOURS

McNeil, Popieluch.

Due to bad weather this year, the lower field was too wet for many needed practices. Since most boys of the previous year's second team had been promoted to the Firsts, this year's team consisted mainly of new boys and one or two old boys. Coached ably by Mr. Stoate, a new master at S.A.C. this year, the team played 5 games. (Games against Toronto Cricket Club, Appleby, and Lakefield were cancelled because of rain.) The five games were played against T.C.S., Hillfield, Ridley, U.C.C., and Grace Church Cricket Club. Out of these 5 games the team only managed to win one against T.C.S. The main fault was the lack of batting proficiency, though Bjork, McNeil, "Nails" Ross, Popieluch, and Hordal put on batting displays of various degrees of skill throughout the season. Popieluch was especially strong in both batting and bowling, and must be congratulated. All in all, it was a season of fun but few wins, but with better luck, there should be a strong second eleven next year.

GYMNASTICS

The Gymnastic Team this year unfortunately can not boast of many trophies, ribbons, or honours. This is due first, to the lack of a proper number of fully qualified gymnasts and second, to our bad luck with the apparatus. Both our high bar and our parallel-bars suffered breakage during the season.

Nevertheless, outside of the material success which is sometimes our lot, the team gained five excellent beginners. They are Farrington I and II, Henriques, Lock, and Spence. Particular mention should be made of the Farrington brothers and Henriques who gained considerable skill as the year progressed on the parallel-bars, and Spence and Lock who did some valuable work on the mats.

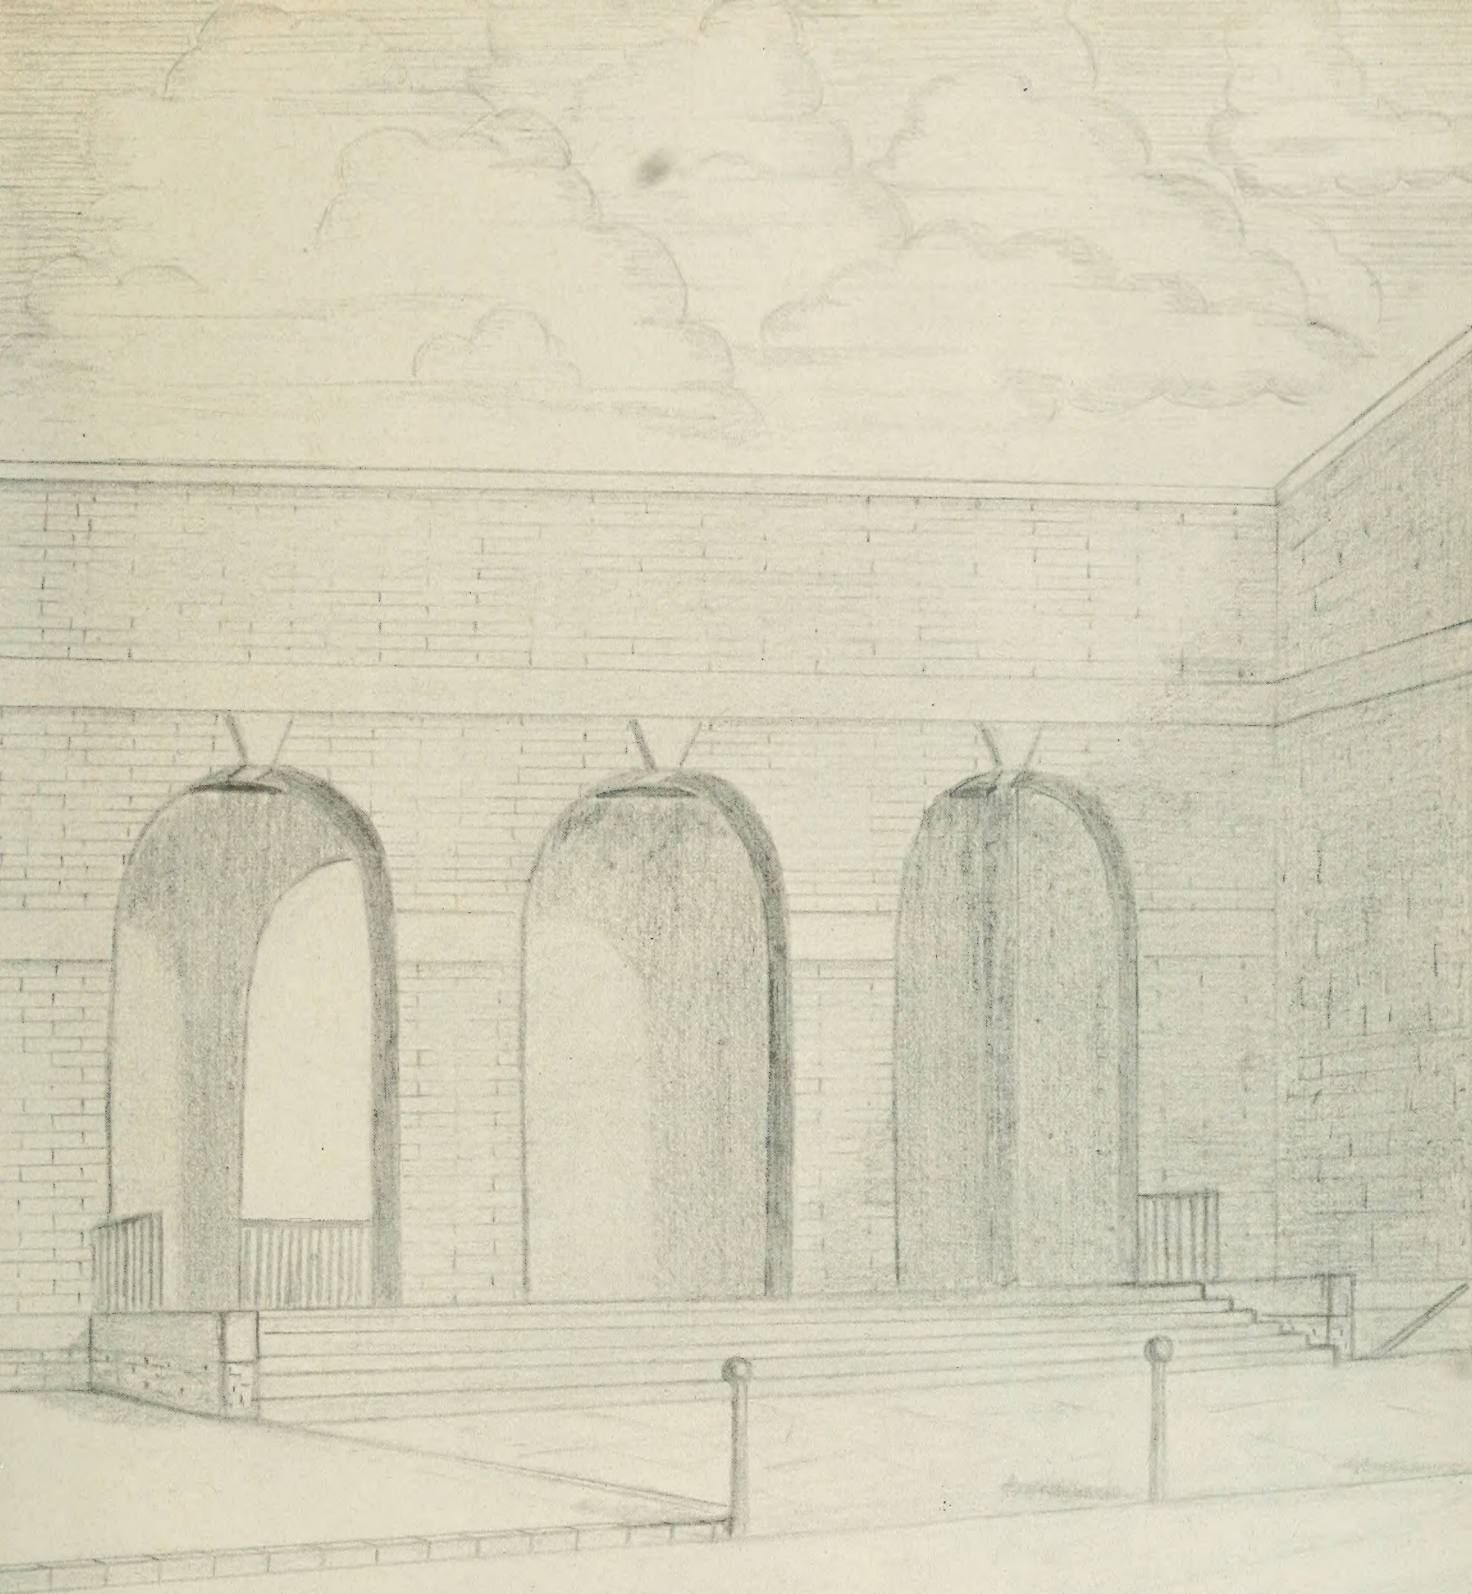

The older senior gymnasts, Peckover I, Dowdell, Hibbitt, and Dunkley I, spent what time was available to considerable avail. Many new exercises were mastered not only on the parallel-bars, but also on the high bars. Hibbitt started working out on the rings this term and became quite proficient at it.

The Major Holmes' Trophies for the two best gymnasts went this year to Peckover I, and Dowdell for their fine work.

The team is greatly indebted to Mr. Warburton for his assistance throughout the year and very much regrets that he is retiring from the school this year.

If the enthusiasm which the team has shown this year continues next year, I am sure we will make it a most successful year.

DEDICATION CEREMONY

THIS AUDITORIUM
was erected by friends
IN MEMORY OF
twenty-five years of
DEVOTED SERVICE

by

K.G.B. KETCHUM, B.A., LL.D.

Master ..... 1932-35
Headmaster ..... 1935-58

Vir Hospitalis, Doctor Consecratus

Although the new facilities provided for by the St. Andrew's College expansion program had been in use since the beginning of the 62-63 school year, the program did not officially culminate until November 24, 1962 in the ceremony for the official openings of the new buildings. The project, which included the building of the Great Hall, a theatre, and a class room wing; the reconversion of the former Upper School dining room and kitchen into dormitory facilities, and the reconversion of the former Lower School dining room into an infirmary, was begun in the fall term of 1962.

The ceremony, which was conducted by the Headmaster, was carried out in the new Kenneth Ketchum auditorium. It was attended by the Board of Governors and their wives, the masters, the student body, and many of the friends and old boys of the school. It included the invocation which was led by the Reverend Dr. G. G. D. Kilpatrick, a member of the Advisory Council, the singing of the school hymn, and then a short address by the Headmaster in which the financial situation of the school was brought to light, and thanks were given to the benefactors of the school. Then, after an address by Mr. Macdonald, the Chairman of the Board of Governors, Mrs. K. G. B. Ketchum unveiled the Ketchum Memorial Plaque. The warm applause for Mrs. Ketchum was indicative of the great fondness of the school toward the Ketchum family. The chief speaker, Mr. Towers, pointed out the tremendous value of an institution such as St. Andrew's College. The closing prayer was then led by the Reverend Dr. C. G. Cotter, an old boy of the school. Afterwards everyone was invited to the Great Hall for tea, and for a tour of the new buildings.

THE NEW BUILDINGS

THE NEW BUILDINGS

St. Andrew's College is indeed extremely fortunate to have several new buildings, including a Great Hall, a theatre, a classroom wing, and a new residence, Fourth House.

Although the Great Hall is used mostly for dining and cooking, it also contains staff residences, a music classroom, the barber shop, and several small rooms in which boys can practise the piano.

The Kenneth Ketchum Memorial Auditorium has a seating capacity of 500, and has already been used for various dramatic productions as well as for school assemblies, movies, and one of the Carol Services. The stage is much larger than that of the previous little theatre, and similar in design to that of the O'Keefe Centre in Toronto. The comfortable seats are covered with bright red plastic; the carpeting is also a bright red. The school anticipates many outstanding productions in its fine new auditorium.

The new classroom wing, which is adjacent to Dunlap Hall, and perpendicular to the auditorium, is a boon in that it enables practically every master to have his own classroom. This is a convenience to the masters, but also to the boys because it permits the setting up of visual aids, so necessary to learning.

Fourth House has been constructed from the old upper-school dining hall and the infirmary, and includes also what used to be the Flavelle House annex. Besides the well-furnished dormitories, the school's "Royal York" residence contains the Guild Lounge and a library-T.V. room.

From the outside, the buildings appear quite similar to the older ones; they are of the same type of brick, and in the original "educational" Georgian styling. Inside, however, they are naturally more modern, and in many ways more practical. Of them the school is very proud.

CHAPEL NOTES

THE CAROL SERVICES

For the first time this year the Carol Services were held in the Kenneth Ketchum Auditorium and the Chapel. The Glee Club and the trebles sang on stage and the remainder of the school sat in the front rows.

Saturday and Sunday, the 15th and 16th proved, as in former years, that Mr. Bradley does an excellent job with the whole school's singing. The Glee Club and the Trebles sang extremely well with many effective solos. The Readings were read again this year by one member from each form.

The order of service was;

Introit

Es 1st Ein' Ros' Entsprungen

Processional: If You Would Hear the Angels Sing

Organ Prelude: Pastoral Symphony From Handel's Messiah

Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light

The First Reading

Sussex Carol

The Second Reading

Un Flambeau, Jeannette, Isabelle

Masters In This Hall

The Third Reading

The First Nowell

The Fourth Reading

The Holy Boy

As Lately We Watched

The Fifth Reading

Jesous Ahatonia (Jesus is Born)

The Sixth Reading

God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen

The Holly And The Ivy

I Saw Three Ships

The Seventh Reading

Adeste Fideles

The Benediction

Silent Night

Recessional; O Come, O Come, Emmanuel

This year a record has been made of the service so that in the future, the 28th Annual Carol Service will not be forgotten. Once again, due to Mr. Bradley's fine efforts, the two St. Andrew's College Carol Services have been a success.

THE CHOIR

This year's choir, made up of ten old boys and six new boys, was definitely one of the finest the school has ever had. For the eleventh time in as many years, at the Kawinia Music Festival, it won in both classes which it entered. At that same festival, Wright won first place in a solo class for Boys' unchanged voices, and Allen and Rous both won second places in their respective classes. The trebles played an important background role in the "Trial by Jury" production, and also put on a fine little concert to open the music night. As usual, the choir in a great way was responsible for the excellence of the Christmas Carol Services; the gramophone record that was made of the service is ample proof of that. Most important of all, as is now one of our steadfast traditions, the treble choir sang with excellence throughout the year in the daily and Sunday evening Chapel services. To them, to their Head Boy, Wright, who is retiring after six years of singing in the choir, and to their patient and devoted Choirmaster, the school's organist and music director, Mr. John Bradley, the School rightly offers congratulations and thanks.

AURORA CHURCH PARADE

There was the usual confusion. So and so couldn't find his garters, and his panic-stricken roommate snapped several of the buttons on his obviously too small spats. Putting the finishing touches on his uniform, somebody else was late for breakfast.

Nevertheless, after breakfast, after the officers had inspected their platoons, the parade moved off, and confusion was a matter of the past. Every cadet knew that he must keep in step, swing his arms the proper height, and watch his dressing. The band knew that the onus was on them to provide "sweet music", and to set a reasonable pace for the parade. And the spectators knew that the St. Andrew's College Highland Cadet Corps, wearing Gordon kilts and scarlet tunics, was again performing excellently on its opening parade.

The weather conditions were excellent. It was a warm and bright May Sunday morning; and there was a slight breeze which aided in carrying the beat of the drums, and, thus, virtually eliminated the possibility of anyone getting out of step.

Having marched a mile and a half to the Aurora United Church, the band marched past the church doors and then countermarched and continued to play while the remainder of the corps filed into church. The lesson of service was read by Major Peckover, and the collection was taken up by the officers of the Corps.

Following the service, the Corps formed up in Tyler St., and within a few minutes began its march back to school. At the front of the Aurora Town Hall, an eyes right was taken by Mayor Nisbet and Headmaster, Mr. Coulter. On arriving back at S.A.C., there was a ceremonial dismissal of the Corps after a number of complimentary remarks had been made by the Head of Cadets, Major Holmes.

THE TORONTO CHURCH PARADE

This year's Church parade to St. Paul's Church, Bloor St. was on Sunday, May 5th. The Corps first formed up in front of Dunlap Hall, and then embussed to Rosedale Community Grounds where there was another similar fall-in. Then at 10:15 in the morning the St. Andrew's College Highland Cadet Corps moved off smartly in column of route. The fine weather was in keeping with the superb marching and deportment of the Corps.

On passing Branksome Hall an "Eyes Right" was given to an official colours party. Our school was later congratulated by Branksome's Headmistress, because, despite the fact that many of us had relatives and "Friends" in the colours party, we did not forgetfully permit eyes to wander, and nobody allowed his attention to be diverted in any way whatsoever.

While passing under the Bloor St. Bridge the band played "Highland Laddie" a selection which featured a repertoire of drum beating without bagpipe accompaniment. Drum Sargeant Zurbrigg merits congratulations because the drum march was exceedingly capably performed.

The service at St. Paul's was conducted by Canon Dann, and the lessons of the service were read by Headmaster Coulter, and Cadet Lt/Col. Robert Rowan.

Following the service the Corps formed up, and then proceeded to march west on Bloor St. A salute was taken by Lt. Col. F. F. McEachren and the Headmaster, Mr. Coulter, and then the Corps continued marching until it arrived at the Varsity Stadium where it was dismissed.

THE INSPECTION

On May 10th at 1:00 p.m. six platoons of cadets, with spats just a little bit damp, formed up in the Aurora Arena. Major Holmes revised the mechanics of the inspection and neat X's were placed at various intervals to serve as guideposts for the right markers.

The inspecting party was greeted by the rain on the roof and three ranks of steady cadets. The weather was certainly against the corps! After Major General Kitching was heartily welcomed, the inspection was carried out. The March Past in Platoons and in Column of Route was carried out with accuracy not very often seen with so little practice in the confined surroundings. The Advance in Review order and the General Salute followed and the Corps marched off. Following this a fencing demonstration and the N.C.O. Drill Squad provided a welcome break from the constant hammering of rain on the roof. The Band under Pipe Major A. C. Knox performed magnificently under the strained conditions of the day.

The Corps formed up again into the hollow square and the Presentation of Awards was carried out.

—Awards to Cadet Pipe Major A. C. Knox and Lt./Col R. H. Rowan

—Major Holmes' Cups to the best Gymnasts to Peckover I and Dowdell

—The Ellsworth Trophy and miniatures to the best platoon to C/Lt. W. R. Saylor and the N.C.O.'s of No. 1 platoon

—Capt. Wright's Prize to the best Cadet private to Cadet Private van der Ven.

After the awards were given out, and after Major General Kitching said a few words complementing the corps, No. 1 Platoon fired the Feu de Joie, and the crowd started to file out into the rain while the band counter-marched. The Cadets were left formed up for half an hour, during which they contemplated the Cadet Dance that evening.

THE BAND

After the Toronto Church Parade, a spectator asked Major Holmes how he managed to acquire the 48th Highlanders' pipe band. That gentleman was mistaken, for it was not the 48th, but the St. Andrew's College Highland Cadet Corps pipe band; they were not nearly as good as the 48th, but for a Cadet Corps pipe band, they were excellent.

After their performances, every year the Band receives considerable glory, but not enough. It is little appreciated that the Band is the extra-curricular organization at St. Andrew's that demands the greatest amount of time and effort. It is little appreciated that every Sunday throughout the school year they have a two-hour practice, and that they practice for more than an hour a day throughout the spring term. The results of this sometimes undesirable labour are, nevertheless, exceedingly good.

The band this year performed very well at the Old Boys' Hockey Night. They led the Cadet Corps Church Parades in Aurora and in Toronto, where they played a varied selection of over fifteen tunes and marches. At the Cadet Inspection they were a unit of excellence, and their retreat was a masterpiece of perfection.

The entire School realizes that the band works extremely hard to achieve its great success; we certainly appreciate their efforts, and the wonderful "skirl of the pipes". On behalf of the Review, I would like to congratulate Pipe-Major Knox I, Drum-Major McClocklin, and Drum-Sergeant Zurbrigg, and in fact, every one of this year's bandsmen on a job very well done.

THE PLATOON COMPETITION

Due to the poor weather and to the swampy conditions of the quad, this year's platoon competition was held on the paved parking lot behind Flavelle House. After hours of practice, which seemed to come up at least five times a day, all the platoons were ready to put on their best showing for the judges.

In the order that they had drawn, the platoon commanders marched their squads through one of the best demonstrations ever put on at St. Andrew's. Unlike past years, at least three platoons were really outstanding, while all the rest put on excellent performances. Nobody was really sure who had won the competition until it was announced after the Inspection that No. 1 Platoon, under Cdt./Lt. W. R. Saylor and Sergeant Haines had been chosen as the winner.

THE OFFICERS 1962-1963

Front Row: Proctor, Lathrop I, Rowan, Peckover I, Massie I.
Back Row: Griffiths, Dunkley I, Pennal, Saylor, Waller, I, Love I.

CADET

The first Cadet Dance to be held in the Great Hall was a real success, which must be credited to the diligence and hard work of the Social Committee. The first attempt to decorate the Hall took quite some imagination, and the lighting arrangement, plus the red and white ribbons hanging from the chandeliers, created the proper feeling of warmth and formality alike.

The guests, introduced by Cdt./R.S.M. Graves, were greeted and welcomed to the dance by Mr. and Mrs. Coulter, Major and Mrs. Holmes, and Cdt./Lt. Col. Rowan and his date. Mr. Stewart, our chief de cuisine, was present, in the uniform of Sergeant of our National Reserve Force. We thank Mr. Stewart and his staff for the wonderful buffet served at the intermission. Mrs. Rex, too, was there to chaperone the girls.

What really helped to make the night a success was Billy Williamson's orchestra. Mr. Williamson provided good dancing enjoyment, with a variety of quiet and fast tunes, for which we are very grateful.

There was not much highland dancing this year, but the little that there was delighted the young ladies. This immediately makes the evening an accomplishment.

Another feature of the evening was the Band Retreat, which unfortunately had to be performed inside because of the poor weather. Under Pipe Major Andrew Knox, the band marched into the Great Hall, and under the dim-lit chandeliers, sent Scottish bagpipe music resonating through the colourful crowd: a sharp contrast to the twist and charlston!

When the dance ended at 1:30, the contented and sleepy couples said goodnight to Mr. Holmes before leaving. Soon the parking lot was dark and deserted. Another annual Cadet Dance was over.

THE CLANS

DOUGLAS CLAN REPORT

When a person mentions Clan competition these days, everyone — except Douglas members — has a gloomy look on his face. The reason? An overwhelming power shown by Douglasites throughout the year. This power is the result of a strong sense of Clan loyalty and enthusiasm shown by each member. We can all be justly proud of our awe-inspiring reputation.

Douglas representation on the school committees was, as always, excellent. The chairmen of the science, athletics and library committees, as well as the Editor in Chief of "The Review", were all Douglas men. Our head prefect this year was also a Douglas man. He was ably backed up by three other extremely able Clan members. The Clan was well represented on all other committees.

The Commanding Officer of the Cadet Corps this year was a Douglasite. Besides him, there were many other officers and N.C.O.'s representing the Clan in the Corps.

The playing field is one of the easiest places to see a Clan's power, and nobody missed ours this year. The 1st football team was captained to an L.B.F. championship by a Douglas man. In addition, the two quarter backs, one of which added his second bar to his first colours, along with many other strong Douglas men, formed the major part of this year's mighty team. Next year's best prospect for quarter back (this year he was second team Q-B), is also a member of the mighty Douglas Clan. Of course, we were well represented on all other fall representative teams.

In winter sports, Douglas made just as strong a showing as it did in the fall. The hockey team was captained by a Douglasite. The high scoring first line was completely made up of our clansmen. With this and all other kinds of Douglas strength, the hockey team couldn't help but win a co-championship in the L.B.F. The Clan Hockey team had a very successful season this year, despite injuries to the team. We lost only one game during the season to an undeserving Bruce team that later tied us, with a goal in the last half minute of play, in the Championship game at the Aurora arena. Looking at the league from the point of view of points won over the season, Douglas was unquestionably the true Championship team. A new innovation was started this year in Clan Hockey with the formation of an all-star team. 75% of this team was made up of Douglas members. The team gave a very creditable showing in its one game; against the second team.

The Basket Ball teams this year, had very good seasons. Their success can be traced back to the hard work and skill put into them by some members of THE Clan.

Moving into the spring term, Douglas did extremely well in games day. Some of our strongest members were forced out of competition because of the "call of the books", and also because of a profound sense of sympathy for the "other" clans. One of our younger members broke no less than six school records in one single afternoon. A new sport was introduced at the school this year. That was seven-a-side rugger. There was a tournament held at S.A.C., and an S.A.C. underdog team was entered. But, you guessed it, Douglas men played a large part in the victories, in two out of three games, that the team came up with. The team was made up on a ratio of 3:4. That is, 3 Douglas men to 4 boys from the "other" clans. Of course, all the scoring was done by a Douglas man. In the first game, a now famous, Douglas athlete saved the game for the team. Important facets of all other spring teams were made up of Douglas men.

As far as scholars are concerned, we have no lack of them. As a matter of fact, the top three in this year's Upper Sixth are from the Clan. Of course, this trend continues all the way down the line.

So far, this report has been dealing with the "team" effort put forth by our noble Clan this year. Now let's look at one of our individuals. This would be very appropriate, since the individual forms the solid base of strong clan organization such as ours. We're not worried about giving away any trade secrets in doing this, because there are no secrets being hidden by Douglas concerning our method of gaining clan supremacy. There is but one formula: HARD WORK. These are the achievements of our able Captain, Rowan, whose example has been followed by all of our members. He was: Captain of the 1st Football and Hockey teams, C.O. of the Cadet Corps, a Prefect, Chairman of the Script Committee, Chairman of the Athletic Committee. Now everyone can see why our Clan is so great.

R. D. H.

BRUCE CLAN

Unfortunately for Bruce Clan this year, many of our best students and athletes of last year have graduated from Grade 13. As a consequence, we have had to make the best of a bad job, and turn this year into a "rebuilding" year, in which we have mustered our resources and planned an assault on next year's Clan Championship. In the not-too-distant past we managed to win two championships in a row, and next year we will bounce back to guide the life of the school and win back our Clan Cup.

For the remainder of this article, instead of the usual trite listing of the number of boys on each team in the school, I would like to make mention of the many boys on our clan who achieved "firsts" in their respective fields.

This year Dave Cathers, one of our most promising athletes from the fifth form, captained the second hockey team to an L.B.F. Championship and also won the Upper School punting competition; Bruce Dowdell won the best gymnast award; Bob Gillan won the Open Mile on Games Day; "Phil" Gore won the best boxer award, as well as the M.V.P. award on the First Cricket Team; D'Arcy Reade won the senior championship on Games Day; the M.V.P. award for the First Hockey Team went to Randy Saylor, our Clan vice-captain; and Bill Westfall was captain of the first basketball team, and at the same time winning the M.V.P. award.

It is when we look at such a vast array of athletes as these that Bruce Clan members realize that even during a rebuilding year we can make ourselves felt around the school; and next year we will be back to triumph over our enemies.

MONTROSE CLAN

All clan captains invariably begin their review of clan activities with a blatant reference to mighty Bruce, or mighty Douglas, or mighty Wallace. Montrose is not a mighty clan; leastwise, in the sense that these thrasonical invocations are intended. We are not as assuming as Wallace, for instance, in that we do not set a day aside solely for the flaunting of clan flags and the singing of clan cheers. Unlike Bruce and Douglas we take no great delight in recounting our accomplishments and belittling our defeats. In short Montrose's strength lies in the silent dedicated efforts of her scholars and the earnest participation of her modest athletes. This modesty holds in check my humble pen and allows me to relate only an uncoloured version of the accomplishments of revered Montrose.

Montrose contributed greatly this year to the school's first Little Big Four football championship in eighteen years. Blackmore, Haines, Heintzman, Knox II, Lathrop I, Waller I, and Williams all played regular positions on the senior team. It was rumoured, and all rumour has some true basis, that the only reason star-fullback Vic Knox missed his customary eight yard gain, or kicking specialist, "The Toe", Blackmore failed to complete a convert attempt, was that some subversive individual from another clan had bungled the play in a fit of jealousy. The youngest teams were sprinkled with Montrosians (the adjective is of my own invention and I trust acceptable) to give these teams the moral fibre and virtues so widely apparent in our clan.

Hockey season brought forth a superior clan hockey team. The team, under the able leadership of Lathrop I, was noted for its fair play and even tempers; a quality which they doubtlessly gained from their mannerly leader. Unfortunately Montrose refused to stoop to the rough-house conduct of the other clans and she was narrowly edged into third place by her bellicose opponents.

Spring ushered in a brief attempt at volley-ball competition, but after a brief surveillance of the game, Montrose declared it effeminate, and the rest of the clans followed suit in usual sheepish fashion.

The final sporting event of the year was Games Day. Only too conscious of their dominance in the previous athletic events of the school year, a special council decided that only the more mediocre of our athletes should compete. We realized that if we dominated Games Day, where statistics and points would shout our superiority to the world, we would not comply to our cherished principle of modesty. Despite this self-imposed limitation Montrosian athletes made a credible showing. With the final pululation of all the statistics from all the clans Montrose ranked in the top four of all the competitors.

The executive of the clan was quite limited this year. Waller I was clan-captain. Montrose spread its control to other facets of the school when Zurbrigg became president of the "smoker", a controversial group of philosophers who can't think unless they are blinded and choked by smoke. This is just another example of the inherent leadership qualities in every Montrosian.

Diffidence and modesty are overwhelming me. May Montrosians past, present, and future profit by this article.

WALLACE CLAN

Wallace Clan this year as in other years showed a combination of spirit in all its activities. After losing many of its top-notch stars last year, the clan was left with many younger fellows. This was particularly evident on Games Day as the Wallace junior track team won almost everything it participated in.

During the Soccer season, the team was hampered by injuries to key players. The team showed though that they were worthy competitors, kicking and fighting their way in every game. Many of the older boys on the clan were on representative teams throughout the school, namely the first and second football teams, and were therefore unable to participate in the games.

Our hockey team was perhaps the youngest hockey team ever to represent Wallace Clan, and with a great deal of encouragement from their coach Mr. Moffat, who incidentally did not miss one clan game, the team gained valuable experience in playing against other clan teams which were to a great degree made up of the grade 12 and 13's. The one strong point on the team was the defence, where our burly defencemen continually hammered the free-wheeling enemy forwards against the boards. Smith, who was the fastest skater on the team was our best forward; he would play like a Billy Harris and sweep up over the blue line time and again to score for us. Again, through injuries, and some key players having to play both basketball and hockey, our record was not too presentable.

The boys had fun though, and with a year of experience under their belts, they should be a top contender next year, for that coveted Clan Cup Championship.

In Track and Field, the younger members of the clan really showed their stuff. On Games Day our junior clan took top honor in the 100, 220, hurdles and the relay events. Although the senior relay team had a few exceptional stars like Bradshaw and Varga and the intermediate team, Sprague, many of the grade 13's were unable to participate because the June examinations began a week earlier this year. We lost the Games Day by a mere 8 points (all in the last two relay races), a very creditable appearance.

I would like to thank my assistant John Saddington who did so much to raise the spirit of the clan (John was the School's head cheer-leader) and all those Masters who spent so many hours in helping our fellows with the various sports activities. I feel confident that with a few major imports next year, that this "Rookie" clan, the mighty Wallace Clan will win all honors next year and come out on top as the superior clan in the school once more.

G. Love I
Clan Captain.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

Once again the cross-country was run off under ideal conditions, and once again Douglas produced the winner in Rick McLeod. Rick led all the way as he forged ahead on the lap around the track and continued to widen the gap until he was about two minutes ahead of Fahlgren, a member of some obscure clan. McLeod was the winner in 1961 while his brother was in 1960. Once again the family of all Douglas Clanners has produced another winner and I am hard pressed to think of any weakness in the Clan.

CROSS COUNTRY SKI-RACE

As the skiers plunged their poles into the freshly packed base there was again that expectant air that another noble effort was about to be made by the mighty Douglas clan. Once again that perennial favourite, Pringle, with smooth confident strides flew over the snow like a graceful gazelle and pulled off a second-place for Douglas. Congratulations, Pringle! By the way, Cathers of Bruce won the race and the Bradley-Rowell trophy, while the Bruce team of Cathers, Randell, and Reade won the team event. The winners were honoured at a special dinner, and they received their prizes: a nice, shiny cup for Cathers, and delicious cakes for the rest.

PRIZE DAY 1963

After almost being sent indoors because of rain, the sixty-fourth annual prizegiving was held under burning skies on Friday, June 7th. The processions of the students and the masters were followed by the singing of the National Anthem and the School Hymn. The Rev. R. K. Cameron, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, read the lesson, and said the prayers.

The Headmaster's Report was short, but he thanked all those who had made it possible to have the New Buildings, and commented on the general drift of the school year. He announced the departure of five masters this year: The Rev. L. R. Gesner, who leaves for Dalhousie U.; Mr. Warburton, who goes to Stanstead College in Quebec; Mr. John Allen, leaving for Newmarket High School; Mr. Gardner; and Mr. Clifford. The School will miss these excellent masters, and it is hoped that the new ones are able to fill their shoes. The Headmaster also announced some promotions inside the school, as well as the creation of several teaching departments, with masters as their heads.

The actual prize-giving ceremony was quite long, since 46 boys got proficiency prizes, and a score of others received special prizes. Mr. W. L. Lovering, M.B.E., Member of the Board of Governors, assisted by Mr. Wright, gave out the Lower School prizes. The Rev. L. R. Gesner, Housemaster of Flavelle House, assisted the President of the Old Boys' Council, Mr. R. W. Wadds, in giving out the Middle School prizes; while Mr. J. K. Macdonald, B.A., Chairman of the Board of Governors, gave out the Upper School Prizes, assisted by Mr. Warburton. Mrs. G. H. Love, much to the pleasure of all, gave out the Shooting, Cricket, and Special Prizes.

With the sun beating down on the assembled group, Dr. M. G. Ross, President of York University, proceeded to deliver a short but interesting talk on several aspects of education. He stressed the advantage of St. Andrew's as an educational institution, and the value of the general and broad education which one receives here. His clearly presented message was well received.

GO OUT ON A LIMB

Meaning: make up your own mind, act the way you think right. But be warned, it's not easy. Once you're out on a limb some people will do their best to cut you down. At times you may be shaken. You'll wonder whether you're right or wrong. You won't even know if it matters any more. It does. It's the only way you can be yourself, and even more. Perhaps you'll find you're not on a limb at all, but firmly set on a new branch of thought. Be an individual, and a man. Good luck.
